Two exciting runaways occurred this week. H. Reimer, of Neapolis, and P. A. Friesen, of Sunnyslope, were driving into town on Monday last and when near the bottom of the Rosebud hill one of the lines broke and the horses ran away, overturning the rig with both occupants underneath. The horses ran into a barbed wire fence dragging the two men with them, and the consequence was that Mr. Reimer received a bad cut on the arm, one ear badly scratched besides being considerably bruised up.
Mr. Friesen was a little luckier, receiving a bad gash in the fleshy part of the hand and a bad bruise on the forehead. This was a very lucky escape from instant death for the two men. The other runaway also occurred on Monday afternoon when J. Hart,
D. C. Corbitt, H. Shaw and J. A.
McCool, of Crossfield, were out after chicken. The horses became frightened and three of the occupants of the rig were quick enough to jump out but Herman Shaw was a little slower and the consequence was he was thrown out but did not sustain any very serious injuries except a few bruises.

If you are looking for a nice

Severe Case of Protruding Piles

CURED BY DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT, SAYS WIFE OF SALVATION ARMY CAPTAIN.

The first time Dr. Chase's Ointment was ever used was in a case of piles of seventeen years' standing. The ointment cured that sufferer, and since then has cured thousands of others.

Mrs. Capt. Clingan-Smith, of the Salvation Army, Essex, Ont., voluntarily gives a statement of her case. Doctors failed, other medicines wouldn't cure her, but almost given up, when, as practically the last resort, Dr. Chase's Ointment was applied Saturday night and on Monday the patient was up. Wonderful, but true; here are her own words—

"Two years ago I was taken with a severe attack of protruding piles, and because so bad that I had to keep my bed, and could be in no position except on Monday and Tuesday could give me no help."

"One Saturday night when I was suffering untold agony my husband went to the drug store for a box of Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I had heard of as a cure for piles. Although I had almost given up hope, to the wonder of those around me, I was able to be up in ten days and have had no difficulty from piles since. As a treatment for all kinds of sores, as burns, Dr. Chase's Ointment works like magic."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only positive and quick cure for every form of piles, 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmanston, Bates & Company, Toronto.

A House Renting Story.

"Look here," said Mr. Jones to the house agent, "my wife will be calling today, and I want you to tell her that this house we have been looking at is taken."

"But, my good sir," protested the agent, "it isn't taken."

"It will be soon," answered Mr. Jones, "I am taking it now. Mrs. Jones can't make up her mind, but she'll want it directly she thinks she can't get it."

A Safe Pill for Suffering Women.—The secluded life of women, who are permitted little exercise, is a fruitful cause of derangement of the stomach and liver and is accountable for the pains and lassitude that so many of them experience. Parment's Vegetable Pills will correct irregularities of the system, cleanse the organs and restore health and vigor. The most delicate women can take them with safety, because their action, while effective, is mild and soothing.

"Gumbolt and I have made a bet and agreed to leave it now. He says a dressing man gets his hair full of water, and I say he doesn't. Which of us is right?"

"What are the terms of the wager?"

"The loser is to pay for a dinner for the three of us."

"H'm—I never knew Gumbolt to pay a bet. You lose,"—Chicago Tribune.

It was at a reunion of a gallant Irish regiment, and in due course a member rose to make a patriotic and stirring speech. "Here's to the old sod," he began boldly, "th' last in th' field an' the first to die." "Ye mudlur!" shouted a comrade, springing to his feet. "Here's to th' old sod, in fact, to none!"

Minard's Liniment Cures Diphtheria.

A good number of years ago a half-witted character, named Jack Scott, slowly traversed the road between Kelso and Coldstream en market days for the purpose of receiving alms from the farmers as they passed by. A farmer, who had long in the habit of throwing him a shilling every time he passed, one day put his hand into his pocket and threw him a sovereign in mistake. He had not proceeded half a mile, however, when he discovered his error and pallor came. Addressing Jack, who was still standing at the same place, he said—

"El, John, in O'm, I doot I've given ye a bad yin the half."

"Woe, woe," replied the half-witted Jack, "it jist took me to have a bad yin in me pouch as well as ye!"

DON'T GIGGLE, GIRLS.

Nothing More Infectious and Charming Than a Good Laugh.

If half the girls knew how silly they looked and sounded when they constantly giggled they would stop it. Learn to smile, not giggle.

Nothing is more infectious and charming than a good laugh, but very few people know how to laugh. It is as rare to life as it is on the stage.

A giggle usually comes from nervousness. A girl will giggle when she cannot think of anything to say or when she is trying to be at ease in company.

She will giggle when a boy meets her and says "Good morning." She will giggle when he says "Goodby." She is only nervous, but she appears silly.

It is no wonder that young men speak with utter scorn of the giggling girl. They seem to think her the least attractive maiden on earth. It is trying to attempt to hold any kind of conversation with a girl who will punctuate her every remark with giggles.

It is not always possible to know at first whether or not you are one of the girls who giggle. Stop and think of it. Watch yourself for the next time you are with one. See whether this senseless trick is a part of your social equipment. If it is, it is a very horrid means to strange that giggle until it is dead.

Far better be silent. You may then get the credit for wisdom that you give not, better that you get it. You don't know how to give a cheery, musical, spontaneous laugh, then try your best to learn how to smile.

Do not let yourself give a weary smile, for that is the result of effort and self-consciousness, but anything is better than a silly giggle.

TO TEST MATERIALS.

Distinguishing Pure Linen From Cotton.

Of the goods sold as "all wool" there is not one-fourth that is genuine. Generally the main component is cotton.

The test for this is simple. All that is necessary is to pull out a few threads and apply a lighted match. Cotton will go off in a blaze; wool will shrivel up.

To distinguish pure linen from counterfeit is even easier. The intended buyer need but wet her finger and apply it to the goods. If they are pure linen, the moisture will pass straight through; the silk, touched with the soaked at once, and almost immediately one side will be as wet as the other.

Frauds are more numerous in silk than in any other fabric, but here also the material of adulteration is cotton. Its presence can readily be discovered. Draw a few threads out. The pieces of cotton will snap off short when pulled, while the silk will stretch and permit a considerable pull before breaking.

The boasted silk of our grandmothers that "stood by itself" is not necessarily the best. Modern ingenuity has devised means of giving the poorest article the body requisite for this purpose.

Shelae and other sticky substances mixed through the fabric will produce as stiff a silk as ever grew, and the robe of our ancestors. Such stuff is quite worthless, however, as it quickly rots.

HOUSEHOLD NOTES.

When a finger has been pinched, if it is at once immersed in boiling water the inflammation will be quickly allayed.

When a child is restless from teething it can often be quieted by giving it a warm bath. The water should be as hot as can be endured without burning. Do not allow the child to stay in the bath long or weakness will follow.

Tears have their use, apart from the crying aspect, inasmuch as they refresh and wash the eyes of animals and birds that live exposed to the dust. The eyes require to be kept clear and clean, and tears perform this duty. A striking example of this is shown when the eye is hurt. It is at once consciousness to water, and often this natural method of cleansing relieves the pain and removes the cause of the discomfort.

IN AFRICAN FORESTS.

Tales of Their Gloomy Darkness and Silence Denied by Modern Travelers.

The travelers who first penetrated the vast equatorial forest of Africa fixed the world's attention with word pictures that are now believed to be partly fantastic. Some of them told how they wandered months without seeing the sun. They lived at noon-day in semi-darkness. The undergrowth almost prevented progress, no fresh breezes could penetrate the area of gloom, and even the animals were silent, like every other phase of nature existing there.

Today writers seem to take an entirely different view of the tropical forest, so that one is forced to the conclusion that either the old-time travelers or else those of modern days report the public an untruthful collection of stupid tales to swallow anything so long as it is thrilling or unusual. Maurice Delafosse, the leading colonial official of France, contradicts many statements of earlier travelers. He says that nowhere has he found the African forest darker than any other dense woodland. The vegetation is certainly more luxuriant and more crowded together than in a European forest, but it is an exaggeration to say they are covered with impenetrable vegetation. Wherever the natives live, well worn footpaths lead in all directions. Traveling is hard on some of them, but many of the paths are very useful highways. Delafosse had none of the experience of travelers who have been there. His arguments have practically been stripped of them by the dense and thorny vegetation that grows for months in forest without greater damage to his clothing than in any other parts of Africa, except that the garments rapidly on a hunting path his sleeves have become untidily worn at the elbows.

As for darkness in the forests, he often took his compass bearings without being hindered by the mitehing camp at nightfall. The forest traveler has this advantage, that he is always in shadow, and that the hottest days he can pursue his journey the whole afternoon, which would be impossible in the open country in Europe.

As for the reported feeling of discomfort and oppression in the depths of the forest, this is partly true. When there is no stir in the atmosphere it is more difficult to breathe in the forest than in the open air, but the chance for evaporation the discomfort of excessive perspiration is manifest.

It must be remembered, however, that if under such atmospheric conditions a man breathes more easily in the forest and he is at the same time much better and so far more comfortable. When a breeze stirs another man's robes, the woods also with refreshing effect.

Delafosse reports that he has had no such designs upon the forests of Africa as on his morning walks in the depths of the forest. He has never found forest as uncomfortable as a marshy area, where the high grass is above his head. It is then that a man without any horizon or shade feels as though he would melt.

There are plenty of sounds in the forest to attract attention also, and they help to keep ennui at a distance. Something is going on all the time. In addition to the ceaseless murmur of the streams there are the humming of insects, the song of birds, the chirping of the monkeys, their gymnastic feats from branch to branch, the occasional falling of dead branches and tree trunks, the rustle of the wind, the wonderful harmonies and discords of animals and inanimate life that pervade when the sun comes and sleep again at sunrise.

March Through Fire.

Six thousand Hindus and a select few English officials have recently witnessed in the neighborhood of Madras a remarkable religious ceremony, the principal actors being Solivratas, a sect of Brahmins.

The festival was called "the march through fire," and it is appropriately enough named. The proceedings were in honor of Ardhama and Vishnu, the gods of water and fire.

Preparations for the ceremony had been going on for a month, says The London Globe. A trench 25 feet long and 15 feet deep was dug, and in it a fire was kindled. At sunrise 40 Brahmins, who were to demonstrate their asbestos nature, slowly marched around the furnace bearing the curious idols. The Brahmins were clothed in yellow tunics, and without hesitation entered the fire trench singing a hymn, the refrain of which was "Govinda! Govinda!"

After walking round this artificial Gehenna three times they emerged apparently none the worse for their experience, and have established an unassailable claim for sanctity among their people.

Figuring It Out.

"But remember, my dear, that you and I are one."

She looked at him scornfully.

"One?" she echoed. "Nonsense. We are 16. I'm the one, and you are the other."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

The Sassafras Tree.

Although fossil remains of the sassafras tree are to be found in other parts of the world, it now exists as a native only in America. It has the distinction of being the only tree to bear three kinds of leaves on the same branch; it is valued chiefly for the flavor which its roots, bark and wood give to other medicines.

For Family Use.

"Harold," Mrs. Thomson began, thoughtfully, "I've been thinking a lot about you lately."

"Something nice?" questioned Mr. Thomson, with hopeful infection. "Do you know," Mrs. Thomson went on, quite ignoring her husband's bid for flattery, "that since we have lived here in the country and you have gone back and forth to the city every day, you have seen absolutely nothing of the children?"

"I don't see how that can be helped," replied Mr. Thomson. "When I leave in the morning they are not up, and when I come back in the evening they're in bed."

"Yes," assented Mrs. Thomson. "That is so, but you might at least send them a souvenir postcard now and then."—Youth's Companion.

Rabbits vs. Mutton in Australia.

Up to the beginning of December, says a writer in Australia, 193,000 crates of rabbits, totaling about 23,000 tons, had been received in London during 1907, and the market for mutton was never so bad as it is now. It is the fostering of the rabbit industry which decimates the pastoral industry. Between these two there can be no compromise. It is sheep or rabbits.

The man who will keep a promise never has to make one.

The Toilet Table.

It is impossible to dress to look one's best unless the toilet table has a brilliant light above it.

It is mortifying to pass from a dim bedroom to a well lighted theater or a friend's home and to discover small wisps of straying hair and errors about one's attire which entirely eclipse attention in the sensibilities at home.

A clever woman has her bedroom most cunningly lighted so that by means of another mirror opposite that her dressing table she can see herself in every position.

This is one reason why she is rarely seen with "rawhogs" between bodice and skirt, glimpsed at petticoats through plackets and the lack of color badly adusted.

Will Light Streets

The Council met in regular session on Monday and Tuesday nights in the Council chambers, street lighting and fire protection matters causing the Council to adjourn from Monday till Tuesday night.

Mayor Sexsmith, Councillors Smith, Shantz, Liesemer, Berscht, Hembling, Solicitor Macleod and Clerk Ely being present on Monday night.

The matter of putting in culverts before the weather gets too bad was taken up and it was finally decided that the civic works committee go ahead at once and put in three steel culverts where most needed.

The traction engines have a bad habit of breaking down street crossings so the consequence is that there is a bylaw now in force making the owners of these machines liable to a fine of $20 and costs or the option of 20 days in strict privacy for each and every crossing so broken.

Mr. Fred Moyle was present and addressed the Council in regard to fixing up the road leading from town to his residence in East Didsbury. He made the offer of putting on one team and wagon if the town would do the same. He also wanted to know if the town owned the right of way on this street.

The Mayor informed him that the town had no power as yet to fix this road as the C & E Townsite Co. owned same but steps would be taken to secure this street to the town as soon as the Hespeler street matter was arranged.

In answer to a question from Mr. Moyle as to why this street was not included in the expropriation proceedings the Mayor stated that on the advice of the Solicitor the town would have a stronger case if the Hespeler street matter was taken up by itself and the other streets would come up afterwards. This closed the interview.

Another item of business which was taken up with much vim and then allowed to drop was the lighting of the streets. The Council laid the matter over until the Fire, Water and Light Committee brought in some documents relating to same.

The Mayor then reported the results of his mission to Calgary re more land for park purposes. He said that Mr. Lott, the C & E land agent at Calgary, thought that the town was asking too much from his company and that the Council were to blame when the surveyor was here in not securing enough land at that time. The Mayor informed him that the surveyor had already made the lines for the boundary of the park before the Council were aware of his being in town, and that soon as some of them knew of his being here they went to the park and the surveyor on being questioned, stated that a race track could be put in as the land was surveyed, but during the course of the interview between Mr. Lott and the Mayor it was found that the surveyor proposed making the track run from the N.W. corner to the S.E. corner which would make the horse stretch come on the west side of the park and the butte would be no good as a natural grandstand. The idea of the Council was to have the track run from the S.W. corner to the N.E. corner but as the park was at present situated this could not be done as the butte took up too much of the land. The outcome of the interview was that a surveyor should be secured to survey track and if there was not enough land a letter should be sent to Winnipeg to the C & E and the matter placed before the company, and Mr. Lott would let the town know the result.

The Mayor stated in the course of the discussion which ensued that Mr. Lott said that he thought it was useless asking the Company for land at the north of the park but that the land at the south could be easily secured. The Mayor informed him that the town would not accept this land as a gift for park purposes as there was a big slough on it and if the company would not give them the land that was wanted

DIDSBURY PUBLIC SCHOOL BUILDING

Neapolis
 Robert Milney and Miss Nellie Sidal of sunnyslope were married a few days ago. Congratulations to the young couple from old friends of Mrs. Milney in this vicinity. They will take up their residence at Mr. Milney's ranch.
 W. and H. Howe made a trip to the push last week each bringing home a big load of lumber.
 G. P. Liesemer has built a granary 40x28 feet and to feet high with a cement floor. H. Reimer, of Didsbury, who has had considerable experience with elevators, built the granary.
 Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Liesemer, of Carstairs, spent Sunday at Fred. Diehl's.
 D. M. Stuart and daughters were the guests of Mr. Liesemer, also Miss Greig, Mr. Stuart, A. Fryette and A. J. Russo.
 A Liberal meeting was held in the Berlin schoolhouse on Wednesday evening. There was a large audience present to hear the speakers. Another meeting will be held at the store later on which will be advertised.
 H. L. Reimer has just erected a fine feed stable on his premises at the store. This will be a grand convenience for travellers.
 Mr. G. R. Buxton and family are moving on to their homestead.
 Quite a few have already finished threshing, and reports so far are that crops are very good.
 On Tuesday evening, September 29th, there will be a temperance meeting at the Berlin Schoolhouse and an address will be given by Mrs. McKenney who is a very fine speaker. Special songs and choruses will be sung and it is expected there will be a pleasant time for all who are present. Come one, come all.
 Mr. Stevenson will preach at the Neapolis hall on October 4th.
 Next Sunday September 27th, Mr. Simpson will preach his farewell sermon. Mr. Simpson has only been with us a short time, but during that time has proved himself to be of sterling worth, and the best wishes of this community will go with him when he goes back to college to renew his studies.
 Will correspondents please note that news for publication must reach this office not later than Wednesday evening.—ED.

 (Received to late for last week's issue.)
 R. Ferguson and wife, of Stettler, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Rhenntzen a week ago last Sunday.
 There was a meeting of the members of Three Hills Agricultural Society on Saturday night September 12th, to make final arrangements for the fair on October 9th which promises to be a success. Ask T. R. Rath, Secretary-Treasurer for premium list.
 Is the Post Office Department of the Dominion Government going bankrupt or why is it that we are so often unable to get stamps at the post office. Why should Three Hills office not issue postal notes as well as the other offices in the district.
 Mr. George Dolson, President of the Agricultural Society, went to Calgary on a business trip on Friday.

Dr. Shoop's Rheumatic Remedy and so how quickly rain will do. It's not a new thing, it's old. It's deep down in the constitution. Getting rid of the rain, is all that what counts. That is why Dr. Shoop's Remedy goes, by word of mouth from one to another. And herein lies the real quality of this Remedy. It is winning friends everywhere. Tablets or Liquid. Sold by H. W. Indigestion Stomach trouble is but a symptom of, and not itself a true disease. We think of Dyspepsia, heartburn, and indigestion as real diseases, yet they are symptoms only of a certain specific nerve sickness—nothing else.
 It was this fact that first correctly led Dr. Shoop in the creation of that now very popular Stomach Remedy—Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Going direct to the stomach muscles, and bringing them back to their normal state, it is the only medicine without that excruciating and highly fatal principle, no such feeling as constipation, or even a laxative effect, and without any of the other dangerous and harmful ingredients found in most of the so-called "Stomach Remedies."—Tall for you, and as for you, what it can and will do. We sell and cheerfully recommend.
